SUCCESS STORY-2

THIS IS BAD CULTURE !!!!!

"This is bad, exploitation and intolerable culture" These bitter words were uttered by a nurse Eliza Sichone of Isalalo dispensary in Wasa ward. She said that she has almost 5 years working in a particular health facility and saw different cases of VAC especially cases of young girls forced to be married with people whom they do not love, out of age and sometimes not tested HIV/AIDS.

Elfasi Levenison Mwamlima (CCW) said similar case happened in his working area (Wasa ward) which involved Dolika Mwamlima aged 17 years old. She was forced to be married to Fikiri Mnkondya (19 years old), and she was injured during conflict resolution at culprit's home.

Dolika said "It was a midnight when I heard people knocked the door of my room and command me to come out but I refused. Unfortunately my room is located far from my parents' room and I do sleep alone. After knocking for a while they budged inside by breaking the door and took me out by force and they wanted me to go with them. Luckily while all these continued my father heard me screaming, he came out and began to fight with them but unfortunately they were many and won to beat me and my father but failed to take me.

Thanks to Kizazi Kipya programme through CCWs, he provides support whenever we face abuses or health challenges ". "I received much support from Elfasi (CCW) early in the morning when he heard people talk about what happened in that night. Elfasi took us to VEOs and registered our case then, by use of his own motorcycle, he linked my daughter to DSWO and Gender/Children desk for more services". Said Dolika's father with a humbled face.

He added, "When we were at the District there were some officers from ADP Mbozi who accompanied us in every step to go and ensure everything are going smoothly. From the DSWO and Police as well accompanied us to our village and met with VEO also to Isalalo dispensary for daily check up about my wounds. This gave me hope that there are other people who look us in another eye
